

Hmmm...baby hammock help?

Escrito por kevinmanuel - 20/04/2018 13:15

Hi,

After initial success with the baby hammock, T doesn't love it. He hates being in it when awake, but that's fair as he likes to look around. Even when sleeping, he prefers to be with me. He sleeps much longer next to me, even not feeding or anything. The hammock also makes his stridor worse, which no one can tell me if that is a terrible thing. Anyone have similar issues settling a babe into a hammock? Should I keep trying? Those of you with hammocks, how much did your newborn sleep in it? He'll quite often sleep in his bouncy chair, so he's not hugely clingy or anything.

Please help.

I didn't find the right solution from the Internet.

References:

<http://www.babyledweaning.com/forum/viewtopic.php?f=3&t=22934>

Business video animation company

Thanks!

=====